Get to It!

(Reprinted from an article by David Wilkerson)

God is going to remind His people they have the power to cast our evil spirits.

Many Christians have allowed Satan to go unchallenged in their lives and homes. They've permitted him to harass them mentally and emotionally. Yet, beloved, we have the same Jesus living in us who cast out a legion of demons from the man in the tombs. The miraculous deliverance in Gadara is Christ's message to us today, saying: "Do not fear Satan and his powers of darkness. Don't be convinced he is the victor. I've shown you my authority over every power of darkness. Now I'm calling you to stand up and speak my word. Take the authority I have given you. Make the devil flee!" Indeed, in Luke 9:1-2 Jesus gave his disciples all power and authority over Satan's demonic hordes: "Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to heal the sick." Nowhere in Scripture is it written that this authority or power has been rescinded. In other words, Jesus calls us to use his authority, to deliver bound-up captives and set the devil to flight.

The time has come for Christ's church to get back to this ministry commission from him: "Heal the sick and cast out devils." Cries of despair are coming from all parts of the world. And the Spirit is stirring God's people to respond. Right now I see Jesus putting a holy fight back into his church. It is a timely work and much needed as I foresee Holy Ghost churches soon overflowing with fearful, hopeless people seeking help. They're going to need deliverance that only Jesus can provide. I hear the Spirit telling God's people to get back to using our gifts. We are not to be afraid to pray for healings and deliverances. Let every pastor, elder and lay person move forward responsibly in faith. According to Jesus, we are to expect these evil spirits to flee at his command!

At Gadara, Jesus was showing us how to confront the powers of darkness fearlessly, with His authority.

Jesus did not condemn the man at Gadara. He did not ask the man how he became so bound. There was no rebuke, not even a question. Instead, Christ worked a marvelous miracle of deliverance for the tormented man. He showed the world how God has authority over every power of darkness. In these dark times, Christ is saying to us, "Go and do likewise." As we hear his commission, let us rise up and go, doing the work of deliverance needed by so many. Then the multitude bound up in Satan's grasp will see how deep God's love is for them, as he works powerfully on their behalf.

Stop Acting Like a Christian and Just Be One

Many of us make great efforts to ACT like a "Christian", but how many of us actually realize what it means to BE one? Too many times we see faith as an external behavior modification program. If we just stop (fill in the blank), then we'll be good Christians. Instead, we need to see faith and our witness to those around us stemming from an internal heart transformation, living from the inside out and not the outside in. Allowing God to change us from the core of our being gives us freedom to stop trying to ACT like a Christian and to just actively BE a Christian. Allowing the Holy Spirit to do His work in us gives us the power to BE witnesses, not to DO witnessing. This is what truly BEING a Christian is all about.

Christine Caine

What seems to be the breaking of us often turns out to be the making of us. When the prodigal was leaving home his request was, "Father, give me," but when he came back disillusioned his prayer was, "Father, make me." So long as we dance around the "give me" we're superficial, but when we get to "Father, make me," God can really do something with us.
